

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND RECOMMENDATION

5.1 Conclusion

This study aimed at determining the strategies and functions of impoliteness uttered by Gordon Ramsay in “Hell’s Kitchen” Reality Show Season 20. Gordon Ramsay’s utterances in “Hell’s Kitchen” reality show mostly uttered bald on record impoliteness strategy. It was because this reality show talked about cooking competitions which referred to the pure situation. It made Gordon Ramsay as the superior comment by attacking the participants with unpleasant statements in the most direct, and clear. Moreover, the most utterances occurrence was affective impoliteness function. Hence, Gordon Ramsay used to use his emotion towards the participants and assumed the participants were to blame for his emotion.

It could be seen in real life when people showed their emotion toward others, they tended to show directly and unfiltered what they talked about, so they spit out the words spontaneously. Moreover, what the speaker said was very influential on the expression of the interlocutor. When the speaker uttered something, there was a change in the expression of the interlocutor. That means the speaker attacks the interlocutor. And it could be concluded, the response from the hearer was not always found in utterances, but in the expression that the hearer displayed when listening to the speaker. It means that from the expression shown by the interlocutor, the speaker might already understand the response from the interlocutor.

5.2 Recommendation

Regarding this study, the researcher is aware that its preparation fell short of perfection. However, the researcher recommends that all of the readers gain from this study. Furthermore, it is anticipated that the findings of this study will contribute to a greater understanding of how impoliteness was exploited in reality show, particularly on how it manifests in casual conversation. Every person, in a time may act politely and impolitely. Therefore, the researcher wants the readers to understand the concept of impoliteness. Everyone who commits impoliteness must have a reason or certain purpose.

The researcher anticipates that future researchers will investigate more thoroughly the various uses, influences, and goals or show another thing of impoliteness. Hence, the author's limitations can serve as a starting point for future researchers to create their research.
