

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

5.1 Conclusions

This research began from the phenomena in social life. People unconsciously can adjust their way of communication differently depending on the social context. They can speak to others in very formal communication to very informal communication. Their utterance can be analyzed based on their social relationship, social identity and the circumstances. The phenomena also portrayed in Netflix series “Bridgerton Season 2”. The series represents the social life in 1800s which is hard to find in nowadays. Therefore, it encouraged the researcher to analyzed language style from that series.

After analyzed language style in “Bridgerton Season 2” Netflix Series, the researcher concluded that this research found all the types of language style and speech functions. The researcher found 192 data. However, the researcher displayed 34 data in the research analysis. These data have already covered two objectives of the research. For the first objective of the research, the researcher displayed 15 data and derived from 2 data for frozen style, 3 data for formal style, 3 data for consultative style, 4 data for casual style, and 3 data for intimate style. For the second objective of the research, the researcher displayed 19 data and derived from 4 data for expressive function, 3 data for directive function, 3 data for referential function, 3 data for metalinguistic function, 3 data for poetic function, and 3 data for phatic function.

Additionally, the 34 data were displayed as the representative of all the data. The researcher reduced 158 data 192 data because of those data have the same patterns of sociolinguistic elements. Hence, the researcher focused on displaying representative data to avoid the repetition of the same data. Moreover, the data displayed differently depending on the different patterns. Therefore, the data were descriptively rich because those data were analyzed in various patterns.

5.2 Recommendations

In connection with the completion of this research, the researcher includes several suggestions that can be considered for those who wish to conduct research of sociolinguistics particularly. The researcher expected that this research can be useful for the readers, students, and future researchers. For the reader, English is an international language that everyone can use to communicate. Besides, both native and non-native English speakers are increasing along with the progress of time. Hence, this research is expected to increase their knowledge about the use of language style. Moreover, readers are expected to be able to find various phenomena that occur in real life. Therefore, readers can also implement the use of language style in their social life.

For the students, this research is expected to provide knowledge about the use of language style. With this research, the students can get to know to distinguish each type of language style and its function. The students can also implement the knowledge of this research in their education and social life in positive way. Moreover, the existence of this research can be considered as the references to make a research, especially the research of language style.

For the future researchers, the research of language style is still needed. The existence of this research is expected as the reference for the future research. The researchers expected the future researcher to find out the gap of this research as they can to do new research. Therefore, the researcher encourages the future researchers to conduct research using different data sources. It is intended to create novelty and avoid plagiarism in research.