

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This last chapter mainly presents the conclusion and the suggestion of this research. The conclusion of overall view of what has been discussed in the previous chapters, and some suggestions that hopefully be useful and give additional input in doing a research especially for English literature research.

5.1 Conclusion

Based on the results of data analysis, the writer concluded that Psychology approach capable in Anna's character in the Anna Karenina novel by Leo Tolstoy. The writer find Id, Ego, and Superego in Anna's character. The first the writer find Id, Anna is a married woman who has a son. She has an affair with Vronsky that destroy her family. She only thinks her desire. She asks to her husband, Karenin for divorce because she wants to be with Vronsky.

Second, the writer find the Ego in Anna's character, that shows when she tries to control herself by avoiding Vronsky. When Vronsky says that he loves Anna, Anna reject Vronsky loves because she is worries about her family.

Third, the writer find the Superego in Anna's character that show Anna depresses with her life because of an affair with Vronsky that makes away from her family also she becomes gossip in their society. She commits to suicides because she can not solve her problems and she thinks only suicides that can solve her problem.

Based on the finding result it concludes that Id dominant than Ego, and Superego in Anna's character because she had to give up everything to fulfill her basic needs only to be with Vronsky.

5.2 Suggestion

In this research the writer would like to give the present study offers some suggestion.

The suggestion will explain as below:

1. Anna Karenina novel written by Leo Tolstoy publish in 1873 to 1877. Anna Karenina novel is very interesting to read because the story tells about the story of a woman who is willing to risk everything for love. This novel also deals with psychology of each character especially of the main character in the novel, Anna Karenina.
2. This research only focuses to analyze the psychology of main character by using psychological approach by Sigmund Freud. The students or reader may to analyze the by using other kind of literary approach such as moral approach for next research.
3. This research is useful for students or reader. This research is present some theory and methodology that guide the next researcher for doing their research. The writer like to recommend the students to do a research from other kinds of literary approach. Also they can be analyzing it in another works of Leo Tolstoy like War and Peace and The Death of Ivan Ilyich.