

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 Conclusion

This point aims to find out the specific needs that needed by Catherine Morland in her family, friendship, and intimacy. Based on the research that has been done, in this section the researcher will be explained the conclusions, and recommendation that can be used to develop subsequent studies.

From the description in the previous chapter, it can be concluded that:

The first love and belonging needs of Catherine Morland to her family is satisfied. Because the acceptance in family becomes the main specific need in family. A family is where we start our life journey; the family shapes us and helps us grow to achieve meaningful goals throughout our lives. The family is important feature in Catherine life. For her, family means everything, with family she can always turn to her parents and her siblings for help and affection.

The second love and belonging needs of Catherine Morland to her friendship is satisfied because friendship is a relationship of mutual affection between people. With her friend Catherine can gets sympathy, honesty, loyalty, mutual understanding and express one's feelings to others, and make mistakes without fear or judgment from the friend.

The third love and belonging needs of Catherine Morland to her intimacy is satisfied with her loved ones Mr. Henry Tilney. Because, with her intimacy, Catherine can feel understood, appreciated and cared for by each other. Catherine love Mr. Tilney and he married Catherine. They were united in holy marriage and happy ending.

5.2 Suggestion

In analyzing Novel or Literary work, researcher should use the right theory or approach in order to have the right comprehension of the Novel or Literary work. For the readers could learn deeper about literature and all the literary work, because literary works are the reflection of the history, biography of the greatest author and also describes human behavior. This suggestion is addressed to the reader which the researcher hopes they will understand about novel and the theory used in this research. It can be inspired the reader to conduct research with better topic and theoretical approach of this research, especially for the student Putera Batam University.