CHAPTER V
CONCLUSION

5.1. Conclusion

In this part, after analysis the research, which are classifying the types of directive illocutionary acts found in "Prince of Persia" movie based on Vandervaken's in the directive illocutionary acts, expressing the meaning of directive illocutionary acts found in "Prince of Persia" movie and discovering the frequency showed in the "prince of Persia" movie, the researcher has written the conclusion as below.

In the first types about begging and suggestion in directive illocutionary acts. These are the lowest types found in Dastan's utterance. In the "begging data " the speaker is a very rich and brave so there might not appeal to others if he is not desperate. Meanwhile, the suggestion is very rarely found in the conversation due to suggestion requires special conditions in providing inputs, but in conversations the speaker [Dastan] not so much discovered. This is due to the speaker [Dastan] do not like to talk much and just discuss the speaker's need.

Asking is the most dominants types of directive illocutionary acts in Dastan's utterances.

This is because, the speaker [Dastan] want to know about what happened when his adoptive father [Sharaman] died and find out by collecting information from adoptive brother and uncle. However, the speaker [Dastan] find that the reason his adopted father died because his uncle wanted to seize power adoptive father [Sharaman]. The last, through the result of the analyzing and finding the researcher has found the types and frequencies of directive illocutionary acts showed in the data. It has a relation to create such a meaning of the context and the amount of the data. As a further research to makes more understand about the relation both of them. The researcher has seen on the official website, e-book and through the movie are needed. It makes the researcher knows as accurate as possible the speaker's intention and about the types of directive illocutionary act used in the "Prince of Persia" movie.

5.2. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, some of the suggestions are importance as follow below:

1. In the types of directive illocutionary acts, for the linguistic student should able to understand and comprehend about the hidden meaning through utterance. It is important for the linguistic student to improve well a knowledge and skill for them. And then, the directive illocutionary acts at University is necessary especially linguistic student, because it can used as a learning material and as a guideline in the subjects of linguistic.

2. A directive illocutionary very useful to our interaction. The fact is in an everyday conversation and even in the movie. The researcher has found some words that contain a directive illocutionary acts. Therefore, the researcherhopes that in this research can support other researchers as a basis of reference and comparison in understanding the directive illocutionary acts.